Causes of BPD

- Genetics: Family history of mental health disorders can increase susceptibility.
- Environmental Factors:

- Childhood trauma, including physical, emotional, or sexual abuse.

Summary: BPD is primarily rooted in a combination of inherited traits and environmental influences, especially early adverse experiences that shape emotional development.

Symptoms and Diagnostic Criteria

Diagnosing BPD requires a thorough clinical assessment based on specific criteria, as outlined in the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders (DSM-5). The symptoms must be persistent, pervasive, and cause significant distress or impairment.

Core Symptoms of BPD

According to DSM-5, a person must exhibit at least five of the following symptoms:

Diagnostic Process

- Clinical interview exploring personal history, symptoms, and current functioning.
- Use of standardized questionnaires or assessment tools.
- Gathering information from family members or close contacts, if appropriate.

Differentiating BPD from Other Disorders
